THE LEARNING COLLABORATIVE'S SPRING 2026 SEMESTER

The Learning Collaborative (TLC) enthusiastically reports a significant change to our program.

Starting with the upcoming spring 2026 semester, TLC will be liaising with an institute of higher learning (as we did originally with LIU.) Specifically, we will be partnering with St. Thomas Aquinas College (STAC), headquartered at its beautiful Orangetown Campus (in Sparkill), as part of STAC's Neighborhood Outreach Program.

The programming and fee structure will remain essentially the same, especially for Zoom classes. For onsite classes, we will be in STAC's comfortable and well-equipped Sullivan Theatre where coffee and tea will be provided (which can be taken to your seats.) Across the path from the Theatre, is a café where we will be most welcome to meet after classes for lunches from home or bought on site.

We believe that cross-pollination between us mostly retired folks and the younger population of the college will prove beneficial to both parties. In addition, those who register for a semester will be able to take advantage of STAC's many programs including those at their astronomy observatory.

In time for the spring semester, driving instructions, including where to park, and campus maps will be provided to all.

The New City Jewish Center (NCJC) has been informed of our plans and we will part on the very best of terms. TLC acknowledges the great contributions of NCJC for the past years.

Since COVID, our student base has been divided between those who prefer the camaraderie of onsite classes and those who prefer the convenience of attending classes from home via Zoom. STAC's Zoom facilities are excellent, and so for the spring semester we have expanded the number of classes available both onsite and by Zoom. In fact, more than half our classes will be in the hybrid mode for the spring 2026 semester.

One more thing: Some students have told us that they love the full (6-class) courses given by their favorite instructors. We experimented with that during the past fall semester with two such (optional) additions to our regular program, and it was successful. Therefore, for the spring, we've expanded that to three special courses. (We keep trying our best to satisfy multiple preferences.)

Hope to see you at classes.

Best regards,
Marty O. Cohen,
Catalog Editor

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

Regular Program

(All classes are on Tuesday mornings)

March 10, 10:00-11:15 am (by Zoom)

Can Anyone Be More Important than Me? – Dr. Lenny Grob

Most of us would claim that we humans are fundamentally concerned with “looking out for #1.” As seemingly self-interested creatures, most would think that prioritizing the welfare of others is an unrealistic goal. But the 20th-century philosopher Emmanuel Levinas, writing in the spirit of Martin Buber, argues that an overriding concern for others is what makes us truly human. This is material for a lively discussion with examples to be drawn from our everyday lives.

March 10, 11:30 am-12:45 pm (by Zoom)

The Legacy of Leonard Bernstein – Martin Schneit #1

At age 25, Bernstein came to prominence through a last-minute conducting debut with the New York Philharmonic, substituting for Bruno Walter on Nov. 14, 1943. Considered one of the most important conductors of his time, he was the first American-born conductor to receive international acclaim. Bernstein conquered every medium he touched: conducting, composing, Broadway shows, and education. Some of the topics that Marty will cover: the Young People’s Concerts, Mahler’s Resurrection, Fancy Free, On the Waterfront, West Side Story, and the Berlin Celebration Concert.

March 17, 10:00-11:15 am (by Zoom)

Gentle Chair Yoga & Breathwork – Bette Willins

This chair-based yoga class is appropriate for all ages and levels of ability. Instruction incorporates yoga postures, gentle movement sequences, and breath awareness with applied breathwork practice, all of which focus on bringing an increased sense of mindful awareness. Research demonstrates that mindful breathing, as well as yoga bodywork practices, are effective in managing stress and benefit the nervous system. All are welcome. No yoga experience is necessary.

March 17, 11:30 am-12:45 pm (by Zoom)

Building Healthy Communities Through Creativity and the Arts – Maia O’Brien

How has history led to the dysfunctional social conditions we are dealing with in the world today? Maia helps people work through natural resistance to change and explore new options for integrating their physical, mental and emotional health. Using the “Hero’s Journey” as a model for growth and development, they can build stronger connections with others for sustainable life balance, families, and communities.

March 24, 10:00-11:15 am (Onsite and by Zoom)

Spotting Scams and Schemes – Susan Carroll, Esq.:

This course will cover current scams and how you can identify a scam and protect your money. It will also cover steps you can take to protect your accounts and assets and introduce you to resources for assistance and reporting.

March 24, 11:30 am-12:45 pm (Onsite and by Zoom)

Time to Kvetch! – Dr. Marty O. Cohen #1

Let's skip the major issues of the day and consider instead the minor, daily annoyances that bug us. Come instead to a fun-filled “kvetching” session when we explore the things in our lives that irk us. Marty will bring his own list as a starter, but we want to hear from you, too – so you can bring your own list to the session.

March 31 – No Classes

April 7, 10:00-11:15 am (by Zoom)

Ludwig Van Beethoven – Martin Schneit #2

Beethoven was a gift to the world. He lives on today in some of the most wonderful music ever penned. His music is considered a bridge between the Classical and Romantic eras of music. Most of his best work was done after he became deaf. His First Symphony was the first of nine that changed the course of music. The Ninth Symphony still holds a supreme place in the hearts of the music loving world. We will listen to excerpts from the following great compositions: Symphony No.1, Symphony No 3 (“Eroica”), Symphony No.5, Symphony No.9, The Moonlight Sonata, The Emperor Concerto, and the opera Fidelio.

April 7, 11:30 am -12:45 pm) (by Zoom)

Wellness Through Nature and Poetry, Part 2 – Phyllis Citrin

We will share more nature poetry chosen for inspiration, the awesome beauty of nature, and the poet's choice of words used to describe nature that along with other modalities promote wellness. Included will be original nature poetry written by the presenter, Pacific Northwest poetry written by the state of Washington's poet laureate, and other new and wonderful poems. Please consider writing your own original poem and sharing it with the group.

April 14, 10:00 -11:15 am (Onsite and by Zoom)

Artificial Intelligence – What Has It Done for You, Me, and Humanity Lately? (Part 1 of 2) – Dr. Alan Pierce

Both Parts 1 and 2 will begin with a lecture featuring slides and short videos to provide insight into Artificial Intelligence (AI) – its capabilities as well as its limitations. In Part 1, we will explore the origins of digital AI and examine how today's systems are built on neural networks loosely modeled on human brain function. We will also review AI's latest breakthroughs in science, medicine, and other areas of modern society.

April 14, 11:30 am-12:45 pm (Onsite and by Zoom)

Things to Do Right Now to Improve Your Estate Plan – Courtney Boniface

Learn simple yet effective steps that you can take today to strengthen your estate plan. From updating key beneficiary designations to organizing critical documents and spotting gaps in your plan, these tasks can improve your family's preparedness. Perfect for all who know they should update their estate plan but haven't gotten around to it.

April 21, 10:00-11:15 am (Onsite)

Opera Experience Class – Joan Mallory

This class is an interactive presentation including costumes, drama, music, and a mock visit by the composer as well as exposure to beautiful operatic arias. The session will feature the opera La Sonnambula by Vincenzo Bellini about a sleepwalking bride who alters the course of her life.

April 21, 11:30 am-12:45 pm (Onsite and by Zoom)

Pressures on the Press and Its Push Back – Sylvia Lewis

Lawsuits, political attacks, shrinking budgets, copyright violations by AI companies, and bosses who cave. America's mainstream media face more challenges than ever. But some outlets continue to fight for the rights granted by the First Amendment as well as for their own survival. Learn about their ongoing battle – but also their tactics and their successes. The class will update “Pressures on the Press,” a Learning Collaborative class held last year. (Sylvia is a retired journalist who compiles a weekly memo about current events, including news about the media.)

April 28, 10:00-11:15 am (Onsite)

The Supreme Court's Latest Cases – Duncan Lee II

The Roberts' Court has dramatically changed the landscape of American Law. While everyone, not living under a rock, knows about the Dobbs decision reversing Roe v. Wade, the Supreme Court has made decisions involving the limits of executive power, the operation and make-up of government agencies, and the concept of birthright citizenship – all of which will have far-reaching effects. This class will review these decisions and effects as well as how other areas of law will likely be changed by the current Court.

April 28, 11:30 am-12:45 pm (Onsite)

Feel More Vitality Alive with VM! – Judith Rose

Offer your body and spirit the gift of Vital Movement™, a unique program for wellness enhancement that integrates the teachings and principles of a variety of kinetic and artistic disciplines to provide effective, joyful, and restorative movement experiences for participants of all ages and levels of proficiency. Each Vital Movement™ class is a deeply focused dynamic and fluid ritual that encourages growth and transformation. Class will begin with standing movement explorations and continue with chair choreography. All new music and movement combinations!

May 5, 10:00-11:15 am (Onsite and by Zoom)

Famous and Infamous Elections – Marty L. Cohen

Learn how famous and infamous elections have affected the course of American history. We will consider contested elections that involved serious allegations by top officials that the election was “stolen.” Such allegations appeared after the elections in 1824, 1876, 1912, 1960, 2000, and 2020.

May 5, 11:30 am – 12:45 pm (Onsite and by Zoom)

Amazing New Discoveries in Science – Dr. Marty O. Cohen #2

We will review the latest exciting developments in several branches of science – many of them revolutionary. You do not have to be a scientist, yourself, to understand and appreciate. All new and amazing things to wonder about!

May 12, 10:00-11:15 am (Onsite and by Zoom)

Benjamin Franklin – Tom DeStefano #1

Known as a “Renaissance Man,” Ben Franklin was a leading writer, scientist, inventor, statesman, diplomat, printer, publisher, and philosopher. An American Founding Father, he was co-editor of the Declaration of Independence. As our first Ambassador to France during the Revolution, his diplomatic efforts were vital to securing French aid. He invented the lightning rod, bifocals, and the Franklin stove. Franklin published the wildly successful Poor Richard’s Almanac – a digest of American proverbs. He was the founder of Philadelphia’s first fire department, post office, and public library.

May 12, 11:30 am -12:45 pm) (Onsite and by Zoom)

American Bandstand – Part 2: 1957-1964 – Rick Feingold #1

Kids raced home after school in the 1950s to watch Philadelphia teenagers dance on American Bandstand. First the high school students danced the Jitterbug. Then Chubby Checker introduced the Twist, and dancing changed forever. Little Eva was next with the Loco-Motion dance craze. Videos will feature live Bandstand performances of “At the Hop” with Danny and the Juniors, “Beyond the Sea” by Bobby Darin, “Rebel Rouser” by Duane Eddy, “De De Dinah” by Frankie Avalon, “Lonely Teardrops” by Jackie Wilson, “Chantilly Lace” by The Big Bopper and more,

May 19, 10:00-11:15 am (by Zoom)

The Art of Ancient Greece – Suzanne Altman

There is probably no more influential era in the history of Art than the time of the ancient Greeks. Their sculpture influenced artists such as Michelangelo, Bernini, and Rodin, and you can see many elements of their architectural innovations all around us today. Suzanne will include discussions of the pre-Greek art of the Minoans and Mycenaeans, the wonders of the Parthenon, and the drama of the Hellenistic era.

May 19, 11:30 am-12:45 pm (Onsite and by Zoom)

Identity Verification on the Internet – Vincent Cina

This presentation introduces emerging Internet sign-in methods that reduce dependence on traditional passwords. It explains why passwords are increasingly insecure and difficult to manage, then outlines common alternatives such as magic links, one-time passcodes and biometrics. The session focuses on passkeys, a cryptographic, phishing-resistant standard supported by major tech platforms. Attendees will learn how passkeys work, what happens if a device is lost, and the current limitations as adoption grows. The goal is to help users feel confident transitioning to “passwordless” sign-in.

May 26, 10:00-11:15 am (Onsite and by Zoom)

Artificial Intelligence – What Has It Done for You, Me, and Humanity Lately? (Part 2 of 2) – Dr. Alan Pierce

To prepare for Part 2, download ChatGPT from the Apple App Store or Google Gemini from the Google Play Store. We will pick up where Part 1 ended, focusing on the less desirable uses and potential misuse of AI. The goal of this session is for you to “learn by doing.” Using your smartphone, iPad, or laptop, either in class or at home, you will actively engage in conversations on any topic with an AI system such as ChatGPT or Google Gemini.

May 26, 11:30 am-12:45 pm (Onsite)

New York City Baseball from 1957 to 1969 – Jay Rifkin

Continuing from 1957 (where last fall’s talk left off), Jay will provide more interesting stories, facts, and anecdotes focusing on NYC baseball of yesteryear. Relive some of your fondest memories playing baseball on the streets, in the parks, and watching it at our iconic stadiums – culminating with the “Miracle Mets” of 1969.

June 2, 10:00-11:15 am (Onsite and by Zoom)

George Washington – Tom DeStefano #2

Washington was a military hero two times – first in the British Army during the French & Indian War and later against British rule as Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Army in the Revolutionary War. He crossed the Delaware River to lead a surprise attack against Hessian soldiers and was victorious at the Battle of Yorktown. Washington was elected the first President of the United States and presided over a cabinet that included Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson. He is one of the four Presidents featured on Mt. Rushmore and is remembered as the “Father of Our Country.”

June 2, 11:30 am -12:45 pm) (Onsite and by Zoom)

A 40th Anniversary Tribute to the 1986 Mets – Rick Feingold #2

The Mets were a last-place team for nearly ten years. Then General Manager Frank Cashen stocked the team with stars like Keith Hernandez, Gary Carter, Darryl Strawberry, and Dwight Gooden and in 1986 they won 108 games. Relive the Astros playoff series and the nail-biter 16-inning final game. Listen to Vin Scully’s Game 6 call of the MIRACLE of Mookie Wilson’s 10-pitch at bat and the ground ball through Bill Buckner’s legs. Watch the post-season sequel of first-baseman Keith Hernandez playing himself in “The Boyfriend” episode on Seinfeld.

SPECIAL PROGRAM #1 (by add-on subscription only)

Six Films – Robin Brancato (by Zoom)

(This class will meet six times by Zoom on Thursdays, 10:00-11:15 am. The dates are given below.)

Watch each film in preparation for the usual discussion of ideas, relevance to the present, style, criticism, and more. Most are available on DVD and all are accessible via the usual streaming venues.

SPECIAL PROGRAM #2 (by add-on subscription only)

Shakespeare and Jealousy: A Look at The Winter's Tale – Alice Twombly

(This class will meet six times by Zoom on Thursdays, 11:30 am-12:45 pm. The dates are: 3/12, 3/19, 3/26, 4/9, 4/16 and 4/23.)

In this tragicomedy, Shakespeare explores the disastrous effects of a King's jealousy on his marriage, his pregnant wife, and his family. Among Shakespeare's late plays, sometimes called a romance, it takes 15 years for King Leontes of Sicily to rectify his errors and bring about the magical happy ending which makes this a comedy, after all.

SPECIAL PROGRAM #3 (by add-on subscription only)

The Amendments – Mike Rossi

(This class will meet six times onsite on Thursdays, 10:00-11:15 am. The dates are: 4/30, 5/7, 5/14, 5/21, 5/28, and 6/4.)

The U.S. Constitution was designed to be amended. "Amend" means: to correct; to reform; to restore. The Constitution has been amended only 27 times. (Fact: It took 203 years to ratify amendment 27!) Article V of the Constitution is "a sleeping giant"! We will review the amendments and potential changes.

SEMESTER SCHEDULE AT A GLANCE

You will be informed by email, in advance, of all times just prior to all classes.
